

AICH BRITISH SECTION FULL AND ASSOCIATE MEMBERS.

The British Section of the AICH, formed in 1957, was known as the International Association of Master Mariners (Cape Horners). This title clearly stated the section's primary membership category. Some members were admitted either into the wrong membership category or, in error they misunderstood the membership qualifications. Reasons for this may be that they had not rounded Cape Horn in sail, that they had rounded in a steamer, that they did not hold a master's certificate, or that they had not served time in sail. This also implies that roundings of Cape Horn after 1949, either aboard the PASSAT or PAMIR, were not by commercial cargo carrying deep-sea sailing vessels in the accepted meaning of the term.

The British International Association of Cape Horners (IACH) includes as members all those who have rounded in sail during a voyage of at least 3,000 nautical miles from 50 degrees south between the Pacific or Indian Oceans and the South Atlantic, or vice versa. This is regardless of the type of craft or rig, or of the capacity in which the member served on board that vessel. The IACH does, however, respect and acknowledges the AICH membership of those Full and Associate members who are also members of the IACH.

A Full Member (Mollyhawk) rounded Cape Horn in a commercial cargo carrying deep-sea sailing vessel as an apprentice or seaman and who later obtained a master's certificate.

An Associate Member (Cape Pigeon) rounded Cape Horn in a commercial cargo carrying deep-sea sailing vessel as an apprentice, seaman, passenger or as family of the master.

An Albatross was a holder of a master's certificate in sail and commanded a commercial cargo carrying deep-sea sailing vessel on a voyage round Cape Horn.

Therefore, although the British Section may have granted certain members membership, this list strictly adheres to the French rules of membership. This has been done to avoid controversy.
