

THE INDEX TO "THE CAPE HORNER". ISSUE 1, 1964 TO September 2014.

Introduction.

The first issue of the British Section's journal came out in the winter of 1964/65. It was intended that the journal would bring our members closer together and it was intended particularly for those who lived too far away from London to attend meetings. Captain A.G. Course was its first editor and he wrote in his first editorial, "The object of this small journal is to promote and strengthen the ties of comradeship which bind us together and to keep alive the memories of the ships in which we sailed". Today, forty years later, this is still the aim of this journal. Its readership has changed with the years, it is younger and now primarily yacht crew rather than former Merchant, or Royal Navy, officers and men with experience of commercial sail.

The journal has always been published twice a year, its content and the format has remained basically the same in spite of five changes of editor and several methods of production. The first journals were typed by Mrs Alice Course who continued to do so until the death of her husband in 1976. Since then the present editor, Chris Roche, has moved onto using modern computer technology.

The aim of this selective index is to provide access to information about individual members, sailing vessels and yachts. Various other topics are also covered, such as reports about the annual international congress. It is not intended to cover the mention of every individual member or vessel unless the content warrants it.

It is hoped that "annual additions to the index" will be published with a cumulative index very ten years.

THE EDITORS.

CAPTAIN ALFRED GEORGE COURSE. Volume One Number One, Winter 1964/65 to Volume Four Number Six, Summer 1976. Because of the death of Captain Course his last journal was completed under the joint editorship of Captain B. Bell and the Earl of Balfour.

CAPTAIN MALCOLM BRUCE GLASIER. Volume Five Number One, Winter 1976/77 to Volume Five Number Four, Winter 1978/79.

CAPTAIN F. LIONNET. Volume Five Number Five, Summer 1979.

Mr. D. JAMES and Mrs E.M. BARTLETT. Autumn 1979, Spring 1980 to April 1982.

Mr. C.F. ROCHE. Volume Two, Number One (New series) January 1983 to date.

THE INDEX.

The index is arranged in three sections, subject; name; sailing or steam shipping, and yachts. To aid identification of the names of vessels sailing ships are prefixed by "SV", steamers by "SS", yachts are prefixed with "SY". Members are identified with their membership number or type of membership suffix. These are "F" for full member, "A" for associate, "Y" for yacht, "H" for honorary and "Fr" friend.

The issues are identified by the following system. The first five volumes of the first series are simply noted by volume number, issue number and page, i.e. 2/1 p10, for example. The issues identified by the month and year of issue are described as such, i.e. Autumn 1979, p12, for example. The second series of journals issued from January 1983 are identified by the prefix J, volume number, issue number and page, i.e. J1/2 p4, for example.
